INDIANS LOSE TO SPIDERS IN THE FINAL GAME, 22-20

Locals in Poor Condition, Due to Sickness, But Fight Bravely to the End

Spiders Superior Only in Condition

Indians Led in Second Half by Nine Points, But Weakened by Injuries, Lost Lead

Battling to the last minute, though greatly handicapped as to condition, the William and Mary quint closed its basketball season Saturday night at Westhampton by losing to the University of Richmond aggregation by the score of 22-20, which adequately tells the story of the conflict. Two weeks previous, the Indians played the Spiders here, decisively defeating them by the lopsided count of 26-13.

During the week previous to the game, the Indians missed many familiar faces at practice. Cooke, captain, and right forward, was laid up until Thursday with the grip, and was in mediocre shape for the conflict. Pierce, the day before the game, was unable to practice, due to sickness. Hicks, right guard, was in the infirmary Wednesday and Thursday, and had not recuperated enough to practice Friday.

The game itself was a slam-bang affair. The Indians, for the greater part of the contest, by superior teamwork and shooting, led by a safe score. Ten minutes before the end of the last half, with the score 16-7, for the locals, the Spiders, due to their superior physical condition, and an improvement over their earlier play, managed to tie the score, and add a two-point lead.

Spectators were unanimous in praising the spirit of both quints. The praise of the locals was due on account of their skill, and towards the end of the game, when they were trailing the Spiders, to their indomitable fighting spirit. It is significant that the locals were forced to use nine men, while the Spiders maintained one team throughout the contest.

The contest was a rough one, but cleanly fought throughout, by both teams.

A large crowd was amply repaid for journeying to the Richmond auditorium, where the conflict was staged.

LOOK THEM OVER!

A full, new line of woollens and tweeds for men's suitings will be shown in room 6, Ewell, Friday and Saturday of this week by W. W. Kite, representative of the Haas Tailoring Company, Baltimore, a firm of high grade tailors. If you are contemplating a new suit, come by and give Mr. Kite's line the once over, and then get measured up.

Baseball Practice Begins Next Week

While no definite statement has been made yet, it is expected that baseball practice will commence about next Thursday. All equipment, except the new uniforms is on hand. Those candidates having gloves, old uniforms, shoes, and other paraphernalia, would do well, it is thought, by getting them in shape for the beginning of practice. The College Shop has a number of gloves, and other equipment, for those who have none.

Just who will help Coach Driver in handling the candidates at the first of the season has not been announced as yet, but such an announcement is expected soon.

Principles Magna Carta Violated

Declares Dr. Tyler In Fifth of the Marshall-Wythe Lectures

In enforcing the prohibition law, which has been approved by the people of Virginia and the United States, care should be taken not to violate principles hallowed by time and protected by the certain "inalienable rights" contained in Magna Carta, declared Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, of Richmond, President Emeritus of William and Mary, and author of Tyler Quarterly Historical and Genealogical Magazine, here Saturday in delivering the fifth of the series of constitutional lectures being given at the College of

Prof. Shewmake to Speak Tomorrow

Prof. Oscar L. Shewmake, of the School of Government at William and Mary, will deliver the sixth of the Constitutional Lectures being given at the College of William and Mary under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship, in the college chapel Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of Prof. Shewmake's address will be "Evolution and Growth of Parliament: the English Constitution at the time of the Stuarts."

Mr. Shewmake is a most interesting speaker, and a large number of students and townspeople are expected to hear him tomorrow.

Dietz Will Coach Indians Next Fall

Former Football Mentor of Richmond Athletic Club Signs a Three Year Agreement With William and Mary

Carl Dietz, who coached the Richmond Athletic Club football team last year, will coach at the College of William and Mary for the next three years. A definite agreement between Coach Dietz and the college has been arrived at and contracts will be signed within the next few days, according to a statement made here today by President J. A. C. Chandler, of William and Mary.

Absorbs Phi Tau Beta, Local Fraternity at William and Mary, For Five Years

Banquet Features Night Exercises

Installation Team Composed of Members of Delta Pi Chapter, Sigma Nu, at George Washington

Last Friday afternoon the hopes and aspirations of the members of the Phi Tau Beta Fraternity were realized in the installation of the Epsilon-Iota Chapter of the Sigma Nu Fraternity at the College of William and Mary. The petitioners were of almost five years existence on the campus, and were sixty-nine in number, twenty of whom were active members.

Among the members of the local were four Sigma Nus, to whose influence and hard work is due, in a large measure, the securing of the charter. They were Lloyd E. Warren, Leonard H. Warren, Ted Dalton, and Garrett Dalton—all of whom were initiated at Delta Gamma chapter at Columbia University.

Delta Pi Installs

The installation team was composed of five members of the Delta Pi chapter at George Washington University; namely, Robert C. Burdick, Robert E. Morgan, Bernard F. Burdick, John J. McNeely, and Horace C. Young. In addition to the installation team the following visiting Sigma Nus were present: Earnest Lee Williams, the General Secretary of the Fraternity; Clarence A. Short, Inspector of the First Division, and Major O. M. Baldinger, Washington, D. C.

Banquet Follows Installation

Following the installation, which took place in the afternoon at the Sigma Nu house, a sumptuous banquet was served in the dining hall to all those present on the occasion. Dr. John Lesslie Hall, in officially welcoming the visitors to William and Mary, dwelt upon the opportunity that any large national fraternity had to do good in this college, where the first of the Greek letter fraternities was founded in 1776.

The "baby" chapter heartily appre-

SEE THE MINSTREL

The second performance of the Monogram Club Minstrel show will be given tonight at 8 o'clock in Cameron Hall. To those students who failed to see the show last night, it is suggested that they treat themselves to a night's entertainment, while incidentally helping the Monogram Club in its highly commendable undertaking. See the Black Face Revue tonight.

The members are: Standing, left to right: J. Swanson Smith, Paul Keister, Ted Dalton, Garrett Dalton, W. A. Dickinson, W. E. Bull, T. J. Young, F. S. Sumner, B. H. Parker. Sitting, left to right: S. H. Clarke, J. O. Faison, T. C. Clarke, J. W. Parker, J. R. St. George, J. B. Pettis, L. H. Warren, F. W. Bull, C. W. Cross, J. Prince, Pat Nickels.

COLLEGE BRIEFS

ADDRESSES CLUB

Dr. Chandler was the principal speaker Saturday night at the annual meeting of the College Club of Norfolk in that city. Other speakers were Dr. Ora L. Hatcher, of the Southern Women's Educational Alliance, Dr. Emilie McVea, president of Sweet Briar, and Dr. Dice R. Anderson, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's college.

The subject of Dr. Chandler's address was "The Community and Its College."

THIRD MUSICAL

The third of a series of Sunday afternoon musicals being given by members of the faculty will be given Sunday afternoon in the home of E. G. Swem, college librarian. Students are invited to be present from 4:30 to 5:30.

Last Sunday the students were entertained by Professor and Mrs. R. C. Young at their home, and the Sunday previous were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Donald W. Davis.

SPEAKS IN PETERSBURG

Dr. D. J. Blocker, of the Department of Psychology and Philosophy, is booked for a series of addresses to be given in Petersburg, beginning Monday evening, March 6th. His general topic will be: "Some Philosophical Interpretations of the Old Testament."

In addition to these addresses, Dr. Blocker will give five lectures on the subject: "Sunday School and Pedagogy."

DR. CHANDLER MAKES ADDRESS

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, President of the College of William and Mary, addressed the members of the Woman's Club of Norfolk and their guests Monday. The distinguished educator spoke at the invitation of the club's lecture department, Mrs. Samuel Linthicum, chairman. Dr. Chandler was presented by Robert M. Hughes, Sr., a leader in all affairs of the alumni of the College of William and Mary, and the logical Norfolkian to introduce the visitor. Dr. Chandler had as his subject, "The practical Value of a Cultural Education."

ATTENDS MEETING

Dr. J. E. Rowe represented the College of William and Mary at the meeting of the Virginia Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers held at Blacksburg on February 17 and 18. At the evening meeting on Friday, which was the meeting held primarily for students of engineering, Dr. Rowe presided, and in the absence of one of the regularly scheduled speakers made the closing address on the life of the great engineer, M. Pupin.

TAKE IN NEW MEMBERS

At a recent meeting of the Gordon-Hope chapter of the Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity three new members were initiated: E. W. Wood, R. A. Kenney, and G. A. Downing.

The chapter is now studying the lives of two William and Mary alumni, Gordon and Hope, after whom the chapter is named. The chapter is also entering a short story in the Sigma Upsilon Contest of Short Stories in which twenty-two colleges will be competing.

ELECT OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of the Edith Baer Club Tuesday, at the Practice House, the following officers for this term were elected: Elizabeth Fristoe, President; Ruth Kline, Vice-President; Margaret Davis, Secretary; Eula Howard, Treasurer; Mabel Stratton, Chairman Program Committee; Madeline Blakey, Chairman Social Committee; Catherine Bradford, Chairman Ways and Means Committee, and Ruth Kline, Chairman Decoration Committee.

After the transaction of regular business, tempting refreshments were served.

SPEAKS OF PROHIBITION

Professor of Jean Appleton, College of Law, University of Lyons, France, caused a sensation at the formal ceremonies of opening of the college year. At this ceremony (which is comparable only to the installation of a university president in this country) Professor Appleton, orator of the day, astounded his colleagues and the many dignitaries present by taking for his subject, "American Prohibition and its results." Professor Appleton, who has not been a temperance or prohibition advocate, told of his three visits to the United States, one before and two after prohibition and of what he saw. He declared prohibition to be a success and urged France to imitate the United States, at least in restriction of alcohol. One newspaper, speaking of the speech, said that no one but a native of Lyons could appreciate the audacity of it, for Lyons is the center of the pinard industry of France. The Lyons press spoke highly of the speaker and of his oratory, but sarcastically of his remarks.

BITS OF SIGMA NU HISTORY

Sigma Nu, whose newest chapter was established the past week-end at William and Mary College, was founded at Virginia Military Institute, January 1, 1869. The original purpose of the society was to combat the insolent oppression of Alpha Tau Omega, which had existed at V. M. I. since 1865. Through the prestige of the more influential students and younger members of the faculty, the ATOs, or "Blackfeet," as they were called, forced or attempted to force the obedience of all students to the edicts of their organization.

In 1884 was established the district system of administration which has existed down to the present day. The new chapter will be the sixth member of the first division, the others in this division being at the University of Virginia, Washington and Lee, George Washington University, University of Maryland, and Delaware College.

SIGMA NU DANCING PARTY

Those of the student body who did not accompany the team to Richmond Saturday afternoon were treated to one of the best afternoon hops staged here in some time. A Norfolk orchestra, employed to furnish the necessary music during the installation, proved more than adept with the string and wind instruments.

Stags in abundance added to the pep of the already good hop, and for those who were not dancing the "Dancing Major" afforded amusement galore. All in all we consider it safe to say that all those present still wished for more at the end of the hop.

In its successful campaign for a new stadium, the University of California put itself in the situation, not of asking for donations but of selling seats in the stadium for the next ten years. The unit of payment to the stadium fund was $100, each cash payment purchasing $100 in script, redeemable in stadium tickets at the rate of $10 for the next ten years.

INDIAN QUINT HAD GOOD YEAR

Local Five Won 10 and Lost 3
Games—Scored 430 Points to Opponents 246

Cancellation by Loyola College of the game to be played here Wednesday night between the Baltimore five and the Indians, which would have brought the Indians' season to a close, caused the local season to end with a loss, as the ill-fated contest with University of Richmond was the last game to be played.

The local quint has no alibi to offer for Saturday night's defeat. They played their best. But the best they played Saturday night was not the best performance that they were capable of. Three of the men on the team, and incidentally the scoring power of the five, entered the Richmond contest badly suffering from the immediate after effects of the grip. Their best was the best that their spirits were capable of, but not the best that their bodies were.

A glance at the record of the local quint is bound to make an impression. The locals won ten games, and lost three. Of the three which were dropped, one went to University of Virginia, by the largest score run up against the locals for the year, 36-20. George Washington University defeated the locals 24-21, due in large part to Cooke's inability to locate the basket from the fifteen foot mark. The final game went to the Spiders, 22-20.

In thirteen games the local quint scored 430 points, an average of slightly over thirty-three points a contest. At the same time their opponents were scoring 246 points, an average of nearly nineteen points for each fracas.

A glance at statistics for the season shows that Cooke, captain, led the five in points scored, with 41 field goals, and 42 out of a possible 66 fouls, for a total of 124 points. Hicks, roving guard, led in goals from the floor, with 55, which, with 3 foul goals, brought his season's score to 113 points. Pierce, left forward, was second in goals from the floor, with 43, which, with 1 foul shot, brought his total to 87 points. Cooke and Hicks scored nearly as many points together as was the total opponents' score for the year.

Statistics for the thirteen games follows:

William and Mary Coeds Defeat Great Ridge

Freshman Sextet Triumphs by 25 to 11 Score Over Visiting Team From Tidewater

The coeds freshmen basketball team defeated Great Bridge High School here Saturday night by the score of 25 to 11 in a spirited battle during which flashes of skill and daring were exhibited. The coeds displayed the most brilliant floorwork of the season and were in top form throughout, never relinquishing the lead from the first whistle.

William and Mary played rings around the visitors during the first half running up the score by a series of pretty shots by Zehmer and Chase. Great Bridge was able to make only one field goal in this half due to Sterling and Saunders, W. & M. guards. The score stood 17 to 2 in favor of the coeds at the end of the first half.

Zehmer led in the scoring for W. & M., making more points than the entire Great Bridge team. Rew and Best also starred at center. During the second half W. & M. used a substitute team.

All six of the Great Bridge team were always in the fight, and battled hard. H. Hall was easily the star for the visitors, making nine of their total score of eleven.

The line-up and summary follows:

W. & M. Pos. Great Bridge
Zehmer F Sawyer
Chase F H. Hall
Best C Walton
Rew C McKenney
Saunders G E. Hall
Sterling G Whitehurst

Summary: Field goals—H. Hall, 4; Sawyer, 1; Zehmer, 6; Chase, 4. Foul goals—H. Hall, 1; Zehmer, 4; Chase, 1. Substitutions: W. & M.—Sinclair for Rew, Dixon for Chase, Stone for Sterling, Slomp for Saunders, Beasley for Chase, Dixon for Zehmer. Great Bridge—Roberts for Whitehurst, Whitehurst for E. Hall. Referee—Miss Rucker, Coach, Newport News High School. Umpire—Miss Martha Flippo, W. & M.

Track Candidates To Be Called Soon

Coach Robert K. Gooch will sound the call for candidates for the track team in the near future, it has been announced. Work of surfacing, and fixing up the track will be completed by the first part of March, it is believed.

After several weeks of practice, the annual field day will be held, at which time the winners and close contestants in the various track and field events will be adjudged to have won places on the track team. A prize is awarded annually to the man scoring the highest number of points.

Members of the track team, those showing the most promise, will be sent to the South Atlantic meet, to be held in Charlottesville this Spring. In addition to this meet, a dual meet has already been arranged with Richmond University, and negotiations for one or more dual meets are being conducted with other institutions.

Number of Tennis Meets Arranged

Students interested in tennis or showing any proficiency at the court game, will be pleased to learn that a tennis schedule has been arranged for this Spring which includes two meets with Richmond University, and others pending with Randolph-Macon College, and the teams of the Country Club of Richmond, Virginia, and the Norfolk Country Club. In addition the annual tennis tournament at the college will be held, the winner to have his name inscribed on the handsome loving cup, won last year by J. G. Pollard, Jr. To permanently win the cup a contestant must win it three years in succession.

Just who will have charge of the tennis team candidates is a matter of conjecture as yet, but an announcement will be made in the next few days.

Changes Are Made In Baseball Card

Athletic Director James G. Driver has made several changes and additions to the baseball schedule as printed in the Flat Hat of several weeks ago. The most important one is the scheduling of a third game between William and Mary and the University of Richmond, to be staged on Cary Field May 17. This contest will probably end the diamond season for the local tossers.

Rutgers College has written asking for a game between that institution and William and Mary, to be played at New Brunswick, N. J., June 12, during Commencement Week at the New Jersey College. The local season will be over by that time, and college will have closed, but there is a bare possibility that the contest will be closed for.

The open date of April 27, which comes when the team is on its Northern jaunt, will be played with Western Maryland College. This fills the card for the trip to the North.

The opening game of the season will in all probability be played with the Newport News Athletic Club nine, here on March 27, unless negotiations now pending with Newport News Virginia League Club are closed for a series of games between the professionals and the collegians. If closed for, the games will be played here during the last part of March, and should prove very interesting, as well as good practice for both the Newport News club and the local nine.

The game on April 6, with the University of Delaware, will be played here, and not in Washington, as had been previously reported.

INDIANS LOSE TO SPIDERS IN FINAL GAME, 22-20

Students who witnessed the fracas were strong in their praise of the courageous battle of the local five. Never before, they declare, have they seen the equal of such spirit.

Cooke was the individual star for the locals. His four field goals were all beauties, and bordered on the spectacular. His floor work, although handicapped by injuries, was of the very best. Hicks, at roving guard, also displayed a clever floor game, and excellent shooting, until forced to leave the game due to injuries and sickness. Pierce was injured early in the conflict, but kept on fighting, and played a good game. Harwood and Young also played well, the former's passing of the highest order, while the latter was a terror to the Richmond forwards.

Fray's spectacular shots were the feature for the Spiders. Carlton played an excellent floor game, and Allen staged a pretty exhibition at stationary guard.

No third game is contemplated between the two schools, although such a contest would prove a most interesting one.

The line-up and summary follows:

Rich. Pos. W. & M.
Ziegler (C) F Cooke (C)
Fray F C. Pierce
Carlton C Harwood
Bethel G Young
Allen G Hicks

Substitutions—Peters for Hicks, Todd for Harwood, Hicks for Pierce, Harwood for Todd, Levy for Peters. Goals from floor: University of Richmond—Ziegler, 4; Carlton, 3; Fray, 2; Bethel. William and Mary—Cooke, 4; Harwood, 2; Hicks, 2; Pierce. Foul goals—Ziegler, 2 out of 6; Cooke, 2 out of 4. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee, Doermann, Harvard.

SHALL THE FLAT HAT GO FORWARD?

Just what the future of the Flat Hat will be is one of the most uncanny mysteries on the campus, to our way of thinking. This June the present staff ceases to function. The assistant editor-in-chief graduates, as do two of the associate editors, leaving only one associate editor to carry on the work of the paper next year. Obviously, he cannot do it alone.

With the experience gained by a year of newspaper work, plus two and a half years' work as newspaper correspondent, associate editor of this paper for one year, and its editor-in-chief—which means reporter, rewrite man, copy reader, editorial writer, makeup man, and managing editor—for part of another, the present editor-in-chief makes the following suggestion to the student body at large, and to those interested in newspaper writing in particular:

That the editorial board of the Flat Hat be made a self-perpetuating affair; that students be interested in the paper, and interested to such an extent that they will serve as reporters, their selection as such to be based on competitive work; that the editorial board, at the end of the year, be empowered to select from its members, the reporter's staff, and the students at large, such students as they think necessary to carry on the work of the Flat Hat for the next year; that the student body be empowered, by a two-thirds majority of the total number of students, to recall any, or all members of the editorial board or the staff at any time for malfeasance, non-feasance, or misfeasance of duty; that the President of the College appoint two members of the faculty for the purpose of reviewing the material for the paper, to serve, not as a censorship body, but as a board of correction; that the editors-in-chief of the three college publications plus the faculty reviewing board, be known as the Board of Publications, such board to supervise the spending of such money as may be left over from the various publications from year to year, to keep a fund on hand from this surplus, and whenever possible and necessary, purchase all needed equipment for the various publications, such as typewriters, tables, desk, copy paper, drawing desks; said Board of Publication, if the funds ever amount to enough, to use them for the erection of a modest, but suitable building to house the offices of the Flat Hat, the Literary Magazine, and the Colonial Echo.

The reasons for this are obvious. The students, practically none of whom know who actually works, and who does not on the various publications, are certainly not capable of voting as between two such men or women for a position on the staff of the Flat Hat. The editorial board of the weekly, or its staff, as the case may be, certainly are in a better position to vote for the best man, regardless of friends or affiliations. The paper cannot be built up and carried on along the lines which it is following at present. As has been pointed out, there is only one man left, and he cannot carry on the work. Others must be trained to help him, or get the job, as the case may be. At the beginning of each year the editorial board from the past year will call for candidates for the reporter's position on the paper. These candidates will be judged as to fitness and ability by competitive work. At the end of the year the staff will elect the board for the ensuing sessions. At this time the reporters, those who have shown ability, will be promoted to the editorial board, and from there to the managing editorship, or the editor-in-chief, or any one of the several seats on the board. Thus the standard of the paper will be uplifted, by the work of those who have been trained for their work. Under the present system the jobs are thrown at members of the staff, not because they are trained for them, but because they are apparently the best bet.

Under the system which we hope to see installed at William and Mary in the near future, unless the students were given the power to recall any staff or board, or members of either, the weekly might in time develop into a family affair. For this reason we have seen fit to empower the students to recall the whole staff, or board, or a member of either, for any acts which the students do not condone or think for the best interest of the paper.

The need of members of the faculty to act as advisers, and to go over the material for publications is a great one. Many mistakes which escape the undergraduates' minds will be caught up with in this way, and sound advice on all matters will be given by the faculty board when necessary.

Only through a Board of Publication can the various publications on the campus hope to work unanimously for much needed improvements here. The board could supervise the purchase of equipment for the various publications, and would keep any surplus moneys in a fund to be used finally for the erection, or purchase of a building to house the several college publications.

The above outlined matters will be brought to the attention of the students, and their action on them asked, in chapel Tuesday morning, February 28, at 8:45 a. m. All students and members of the faculty are asked to be there, the former to discuss and vote on the proposed measure, and the latter to discuss and advise on any questions that may arise.

With The Poets and Wags

BRING 'EM ON

Mary wants to come up to the dances.

In fact she even begs;
I think I'll have her up this time
She's got the keenest pair of eyes.

I certainly do like Doris
Her name on my list I'll check
For let me tell you one thing
She sure does put out smiles.

They call it "petting" down at Yale,
We call it "smoozing" here,
They call it "loving" at Cornell,
And "necking" far and near.
But girlie, dear, I do declare,
Regardless of the name,
That college men most everywhere
Will play the game the same!
—And ain't it the truth!!
—The Agonistic.

GIVE ME THE GIRL OF YESTERDAY

Give me the girl of yesterday,
With pretty smile and winsome way,
She who wears a real complexion,
She whose love is true affection;
The girl who dresses modestly,
The girl whose thoughts are purity.

Give me the girl of yesterday
Without the camouflage array
Of kalsomine bedecked face
And lips "put" in their proper place,
For artificial features fade.

Give me the girl that nature made.
Give me the simple, practical girl,
Who does not crave life's giddy
whirl,
The girl who shuns the midnight ball,
The "shimmie," "toddle," "cheek"
and all

The things that seem to classify
The "flapper" and "social butter fly."

Where's the girl who can sew, and bake

The pies "like mother used to make?"

Who thinks that palace with gilded dome

Brings not happiness of "home?"

O, change the lass of her "modern way,"

And give me the girl of yesterday!

—L. L. P., Emory.

CHARGE OF THE "LIMB" BRIGADE

Half an inch, half an inch,
Half an inch shorter—
Whether the skirts are for Mother or daughter.

Briefer the dresses grow,
Fuller they ripple now,
While whisking glimpses show
More than they oughter.

Forward the dress parade,
Is there a man dismayed?
No—from the sight displayed
None could be sundered.

There's not to make remark,
Clergyman, clubman, clerk,
Gasping from noon till dark—
At the Four Hundred.

ciates the earnest co-operation that it has received at all times from the members of the other national fraternities located at the College of William and Mary, and is earnestly resolved that these relations shall continue to exist. The General Secretary, phrasing the spirit of Sigma Nu, stated that "the moment that any member conceives a conceited notion of his own fraternal standing, or thinks more of his fraternity than he does of his college, in that moment he ceases to be a worthy 'Sig' and in all honesty should turn in his badge."

The following members of the local were initiated:

DIETZ TO COACH INDIANS NEXT FALL

The agreement between Dietz and the college will be in the form of a three-year contract, at a salary not divulged. Complete satisfaction is expressed here among the students and faculty at this selection of a coach to take the place of "Bill" Fincher, who coached last season.

Carl Dietz has an enviable record as an athlete and as a coach. He first played football as a member of the Washington State College eleven, being a regular end in 1912 and 1913, and being shifted to fullback for the seasons of 1914 and 1915. During his last year in Washington State he was captain of the eleven which won the Pacific Coast championship and then defeated Brown University in a post-season game at Pasadena on New Year's Day. He was considered one of the best all 'round athletes ever turned out at Washington State, being a four-letter man in track, and showing proficiency in basketball.

After finishing at Washington State Dietz was assistant coach at his alma mater under Head Coach William H. Dietz, and later assisted Coach G. A. Welch at Carlisle. He was in the Marine Corps during the war and coached the Quantico Marines, from where he went to Richmond. Last season the feature of the play of the numerous stars that comprised the Richmond Athletic Club eleven was their team-play, a condition attributed in large part to the work of Coach Dietz.

She "Oh, Bill, isn't my hair, a sight?"

He: "Well, I've seen a d—d sight worse."

William and Mary under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship. Dr. Tyler's subject was "Magna Carta: Its Influence of Virginia and American Institutions."

"Any law which authorizes general warrants whether they be in arrest of suspected persons," he said, "or the breaking open of suitcases, or searching of automobiles, or entering houses, or breaking places under lock and key, without naming the individual or the place, is against the Constitution of Virginia, which has imbedded in it the principles that have come down from the days of King John. Such a law," he stated, "established an arbitrary authority which enables every officer to act the part of the tyrant. A precedent is afforded," he asserted, "which may be invoked in the interest of a bad cause—perhaps to the injury of thousands. It is therefore better to keep within the old conservative lines and trust to public sentiment, though it be slow in the process," Dr. Tyler said, "to conquer the evil. We should avoid rushing to remedies which carry in their wake consequences probably just as direful as the trouble sought to be corrected," he said.

There have been many applications of Magna Carta in both the State and national laws, Dr. Tyler declared. Its principles were followed in the early colonial days of the Old Dominion, under many different circumstances, but always with the same view—the attainment of personal safety, personal liberty, and the safe custody of private property. Its latest application in the Federal government has been the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution to admit women to the suffrage, the speaker said.

The real danger of the influence of Magna Carta, Dr. Tyler stated, is not that it will cease to be invoked constantly, but in invoking it for mistaken purposes. It has often been the case in the past, he said, that good causes have been ruined by objectionable methods. Speaking of this, he said, "Where the purpose is good, men are very apt to overlook necessary and infeasible limitations. In their zeal to prohibit slavery the abolitionists endorsed measures so extreme as to threaten the existence of the Union, and to provoke murder and incendiarism. So in present issues before the people, we cannot be too cautious. In seeking to avoid one evil, we must be careful not to encourage others just as objectionable."

The influences of Magna Carta have been innumerable, Dr. Tyler stated, on State and National government in the United States. The Virginia Declaration of rights, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of all the States, and the Federal Constitution, are all based upon it. The constitutions, he said, invariably provided for taxation by the legislature only, for the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, for trial by jury in criminal cases, for the prohibition of laws imposing religious tests, and other provisions of a primary character. Little of the State and Federal Constitutions was new, he added, much of it being based on the great English freedom-giving document.

Concluding, Dr. Tyler pleaded: "Despite all temptations, let us stand by Magna Carta, which means with us even more than it did with Mr. Jefferson, an affirmation of the rights of mankind, rather than merely the rights of Englishmen or Americans, or the male sex. And as the natural law was ordained by God, so Magna Carta stands today for rights that are divine in their nature. Amidst all the storms of time, it stands as a mighty barrier to evil, firm and unshaken, and in the conception of its Heavenly spirit, the patriotic citizens, like the pious Christians, will cherish it as a 'rock of ages,' and cling to it for protection."

Pictures at the Palace Next Week

SHOWS AT 4, 7, 8:30 P. M.

"Wet Gold," one of the most spectacular under sea stories ever screened, will be shown at the Palace Theatre Monday. The story is an intensely interesting one, and the photography, most of which was done under water, is very good.

TUESDAY

What is said to be one of the greatest pictures ever directed by William deMille will be shown at the Palace Theatre Tuesday in "After the Show," starring Jack Holt, Lila Lee, and Charles Ogle. The theme of the story concerns life along the White Way, and the whole picture is an elaborate one, in its settings and costumes.

WEDNESDAY

It was one of the chief aims of the Famous Players-Lasky British Producers, Ltd., in founding its studio in England, to make pictures which should faithfully reproduce English life, manners and customs, not merely for the home market, but also for American distribution.

In his E. Phillips Oppenheim story, "Dangerous Lies," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Wednesday, Director Paul Powell has had exceptionally fine chances to give his subject those little touches of local atmosphere and colour which can vitalize even the drabest subject and make it true and real.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

Richard Barthelmess, brightest of the younger male stars, is the leading figure in "Experience," a George Fitzmaurice production, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday. The picture is said to be one of the best yet done by Fitzmaurice, who is one of America's greatest producers. The acting of Barthelmess in "Experience" is also declared to be the best yet done by the youthful star.

The play is an allegorical one, well remembered by many who saw the legitimate performance of "Experience." The screen version differs in a number of interesting ways from the stage performance.

SATURDAY

William Duncan's special production, "Steelhart," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Saturday is a virile tale of the West. Duncan has steadily gained the distinction of portraying western roles better than any other actor of today with one exception, who recently announced his retirement from the screen. Duncan is one of the best horsemen in the picture game and has done range riding, cowpunching and mining and is practically able to live his stories. Edith Johnson is co-star with him in the production.
